DETAILED ACTION

Drawings

1. The drawings are objected to under 37 CFR 1.83(a). The drawings must show every feature of the invention specified in the claims. Therefore, the claimed details of claims 2, 3,4,5, 8,10 (push button function), and the control logic of claims 3, 4, 5, and the pinch safety system of claim 5 must be shown or the feature(s) canceled from the claim(s). No new matter should be entered.

A proposed drawing correction or corrected drawings are required in reply to the Office action to avoid abandonment of the application. The objection to the drawings will not be held in abeyance.

Applicant's comments are noted, but these claims recite logic statements that are not illustrated and not even hinted at by the claims at issue. The proposed drawing of 8/16/2004 is approved.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

2. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

3. Claims 1-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

Claim 1 is vague as multiple pre-selected positions are recited, therefore the last recited "position" is indefinite and should perhaps be written --one of said pre-selected positions--.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

5. Claims 1-2, 6-10 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Weissrich et al..

See column 4, lines 1-4 and 21-27. Specifically for applicant's edification, Weissrich et al. has a control unit unshown in the logic control for the various intermediate positions. Further, Weissrich et al. has a tachometer-dependent circuit as a control. Weissrich et al. has control element 21/23 having a range of adjustment 100-120 with a first rotary operation between 100-118 each corresponding to pre-selected positions of the roof, and a second push button operation for activating the control unit to move at least one of the roof members to the position corresponding to position 119 or 120.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 1-5 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Weissrich et al. in view of Caye et al.

Art Unit: 3612

It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to provide in Weissrich et al. a control unit as taught by Caye et al. in order to selectively control the required logic functions.

As to claim 3, the structure of claim 1 as embodied in the reference to Weissrich et al. allows the functions listed in the dependent claims. Use of a microprocessor control for a moveable roof system is set forth by Caye et al. prior to the invention of applicant. The specific functions listed in claims 3-4 are deemed to be merely conventional features in the switch art, known as a toggle function. Further, the use of "hands on" to override safety protocols, such as conventional pinch safety systems is well known in the art to prevent inadvertent stoppages. As applicant has not challenged these statements of judicial notice, they are made final. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill to provide in Weissrich et al. a programmable logic control as taught by Caye et al. as an efficient and adaptable control circuit. and further obvious to use a toggle function and a hands on switch control conventional features in the art.

Response to Arguments

8. Applicant's arguments filed 8/16/2004 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Arguments relating to the sequential use of the recited operations being essential is moot since there are no such claim limitations.

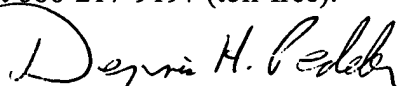

Arguments relating to Caye et al. are moot as Caye et al. was recited to teach a microprocessor, not a different switch.
